R J Street on Sup't Dear Su Lam using a No 7 Gas Range, and it is with ploasure that I bear witness to its many good qualities. For utility, cleanliness, confort and common, it is all I could desire, mything can be cooked on it that can be cooked on any store, with any opinion, loss expense, and certainly with less trouble and more comfort. I cheerfully recommond it.

Yours Truly.

MRS HENRY ELWOOD.

Ma R J Stratton, Supt. Dear St. I want to say to you that the gas stove you furnished to me has Summer is much more satisfactory than I had hoped for 1 and do every kind of cooking with it, and the regularity of the heat gives better results than any other stove. I should not desire to keep house without it.

MRS FRANK H. HALL.

R. J. Senarron, Supt Dear Sh I have in use one of your Gas Cooking Ranges and as a matter of convenience and comfort it is unsurpassed, and is all you claim for it—gas costing about the same as oil or coal. MRS. WM. PLUCK. Yours Respectfully,

THE WELSH CORACLE.

THE ORIGIN AND CONSTRUCTION OF AN OLD TIME CRAFT.

Source from Whence Sprang the "Canvi Boat"-Dexterity of Some Paddlers-Of

rate, has been told, that the coracle is the ancient British boat; but how many people have seen a coracle or know the method of its navigation? The case for the antiquity of coracles is a pretty strong one, for there is evidence of their use by the British in the time of the Romans, but such has been the uprooting of cherished boliefs in recent times that fow people probably would be surprised to hear that coracles had never been heard of before the middle of the last century, and that the first had been used, not by Noah, as the prevalent belief in Wales is, but by one David Jones (of locker colobrity), of Llangollen There is much in the cotacle, however, which favors the idea that it is a primitive boat. That a large wicker basket covered with skins would float is an idea which might occur to a man at an early stage of clvilization, that it might be made big enough to hold a man, or even two, and that it would be convenient for crossing livers, and even for floating down them, while its lightness would make it easily carried up them, would merely be a development of the first idea. We therefore (we hope not mashly) believe in the Welsh legend of the antiquity of the cornele, not going further back, however, t present, than Roman times

But the present coracle is, as might be expected, a development, but by no means a very advanced one, the wicker has given place to ashen laths and the skins to tarpaulin. Coracles vary in shape slightly, and also in size There are single and double ones—i. e., to hold one person or two The largest size of double coracle weighs about sixty pounds, the smallest single one, per-haps, thirty pounds. The nearest thing to it in shape that we can think of is ne of those large walnut shells into which Limerick gloves used to be stowed, and which in bygone ages were considered suitable presents for ladies There is a considerable bilge, the bottom of the coracle being much wider than the top, the largest and heaviest draw only two or three inches of water; a narrow plank is fixed across the center The extreme crankness of the craft

may be inferred from the method of getting into it, you put one log in, sitting down with the same action, and hen draw the other in carefully after. To people of some temperaments it is somewhat exciting to know that there is only a plece of tarred canvas between them and a raging flood, and that there nie rocks and fallen trees under the disclored water, but a good cornclemu manages has boat very skillfully with his single paddle held in one hand, and just is you are in the middle of the turmor of a fearful rapid, with rooks ahead and on each aide, on which shipwreck seems inevitable, a dexterous sweep of the paddie takes you between the breakers, and, before you can wink comfortably, you find yourself in the pool below, gliding along in perfect serenity

streams and on the Sovern, but, we be-lieve, little elsewhere in England The most systematic use of them, and the longest voyages made, are on the Doe, in the Vale of I langellen the "wizard stream" of Milton, the "holy Dee," "the data brother of Severn" of Drayton, the "sacred Dee" of Tennyson, and verily the scenes through which the coracle fisherman on the Dee passes are over recurring scenes of enchantment From no position can river scenery be so well seen as from the middle of the stream, and when one pictures to one's self a voyage of a dozen miles along the windings of a river in such a valo as that of Llangollen, it is easy to conceive that lovely bits of scenery are repeated at overy turn

Now the fault craft dashes down a rapid, the waves boiling on either side of it, now it glides on the surface of a long, deep, silent pool, buried in the woods over the tops of which the purple hills appear. The foliago is rich beyond behef, and in the spring and autumn its varied colors give the most charming ef-fect "Cool mosses deep" clothe the banks, wild flowers peep forth

Animals are not very shy of the counce trout take the fly close to it, anndpipers flit about with the most transparent protense of being there only for amusement and of having no nest anywhere in the neighborhood, water ousels show their white threats and little round bodies on the rocks for a monent and are gone, an occasional king-isher flasher prat, his splendid colors glowing in the sunlight, willow wiens hop jakily about on the banks, and bright eyed water voles eye you curlously before they take their plunge.

Accidents rucly happen in a coracle Where the river is very difficult, the man who paddles makes the fisherman get out, and sometimes the ship itself is landed and carried past a dangerous place Formerly coracles used to be carried for long distances on the men's backs, now the railway has come to the fisherman's assistance, and his boat goes with him to the station nearest to his starting point, and from thence is carried to the river If a hole is knocked in the bottom of the boat by a rock or the branch of a sunken tree, the coracle man paddles to the bank, lifts out his coracle, lights a piece of taper he always carries with him, melts the tar on a patch of tarpaulin he produces from somowhere, and sticks it over the hole like a large pieco of sticking plaster, in a few min-utes it drice, and you are off again — Saturday Review.

Last year hewas fished out and thrown into the soup, but he still tionks he is in politics. In this conception he is by no means alone. There are still other detached members of the Chyeland movement who think that the soup a still a grand appere for political ambition "

This nurderer of Cromm is as numer one and as abiquitons as ever Tascott was in his palmest days. There are more of hon, and he is distributed it recrealifferent places at the same time, than there ever was of Smell's slayer. He is not only omnipresent, but in his ability to be point of Farer's way he also mensa to enjoy the attribute of omniseisuco as well, for he always knows which way the officers are contag. from, and he morniged to be somewhere elac when they get there.

Ties fates seem to have decreed that his year. The bell-withers of that off-Impressed organization are already in the of New York City, first vice-president; throes of a nightmare which promises to ast them until November, and it will be apread from the leaders among the rank and file until it permeates every neek and corner of the battered old hulk. If there is one man within the confines of the country whom the Democracy lates and fears weree than James G. Washington, June 27 .- Secretary Tracy me just issued an important genora order directing a radical re-organization of the different lureaus of the Navy Department, which is to go into effect on the lat of July next. This is a step the Beerstary decided to take very soon after he was placed at the head of the Navy Department, He discovered incongruties and divided responsibilities in the inties devolving upon different bureau chiefs under the present organization, and he also found it difficult, under the existing system of business, to arrange and classify the new supplies and sources of supply needed for the creation of mow floots and to continue the work of increasing the may, His new order re-

It aimplifies and equatizes the work of some of the bureaus and concentrates duties that in many cases are new scattered among several barroass. In general, the new organization groups the duties of construction, equipment and supply logically and systematically among several bureaus, and places the personnel of the pays, the training. drilling, inspection and discipline of offimong soveral different bareaus-unde the Buroau of Navigation. Another important and new feature of the reorganiaction of the departmental work is that constituting the chiefs of the five bureaus that have to do with the preparation of material-yards and deaks, ordinance, equipment, construction and steam onclosering-ex-officio a board for the deign, construction and equipment of new

Why National Banks Oan Not be Established in the Indian Territory.

WASHINGTON, June 28.-The Attorney. General has rendered an opinion in which he holds that a National bank can not be established anywhere in the territory of the five civilized untions in the Induu Territory. The objections to a dablish-ing National banks there, he says, grow out of the freatles now in force between the United States and the five nations. The frenties provide that these untienshall be unrestricted in the right of soil's government, and jurisillation over pernone and proporty in theh hinter and the offect of the treation make it ento to may that the National banking laws are not in opocation in this Territory.

THE M'DOW TRIAL.

Evidence That His Victim Was Shot in the Back.

Testimony That Ought to Hang the Murderer Without the Benefit of Clergy-The Case Closed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 28.—The McDow trial was resumed yesterday morning. Dr. R. A. Kinloch was the first witness called by the State. He exhibited an embalmed model, and explained the flight of the ball and the direction of the wound. He corrobotated the opinion of the surgeon who mude the autopsy that Dawson was shot while his back was turned to the prisoner. He said it was absolutely impossible to account for the wound in any other way John Hogan, a detective, testified that he had taken McDow from the police station to the jail on the night of the murder. Witness asked McDow where he shot Dawson and McDow saul. "I shot him to kill, and 12d shoot film again and again. I know where to shoot to kill. I learned that in my profession."

The Fire.

A small blaze broke out this morning about 9 o'clock in the barn at the rear of the residence occupied by W. S. Richard. son, corner of West Wood and Monroe streets. The fire department was called out, but the blaze was extinguished before they arrived. The fire might have resulted fatally had it ignited a gallon can of powder half filled, which was lookted in one corner of the barn. Had it caught fire the explosion would have blown the building to atoms, Fortunately the can was discovered in time to prevent the threatened calamity. The fire is supposed to have been of incondiary origin, as a similar blaze was started Sunday morning. The family think it was started by tramps. No damage.

tion to the world of nature's freaks, when Mrs. Charles Tracy, of Kings-bridge, N. Y., gave birth to a son weighing exactly eleven concess. The length of the child was six luches, and the feet were so small that the mother's engagement ring easily slipped over them up to the knee of the little one. Prior to the advent of this little off three children had blessed the union of the Tracys, all of regulation size. The head of this little wonder was about the size of a horse chestunt, the face about like a quarter dollar piece, the mouth, which was entirely too small to grasp the nipple after the usual fashion, was stretched to its utmost enpusity over a goose quill fastened in the neck of a two curses bottle filled with milk. A man of ordinary grasp could clasp his hand around the body of little Tracy and meet the thumb and index finger. For many Tennessee also chilas honor in the small buby line. The Chattaneoga claimant was born in March, 1883, and weighed but one pound and eight ounces. The father, Mr. Marion Poe, was a prominent merchant of that city at the time, and above the average in height, being ster six feet. Mrs. Poo is a healthy woman, weighing 123 pounds. The pride of the Pees, and the wonder of Tennessee, had a head aptly compared in size to a billiard ball, but unlike the Tracy midget provided with a mouth that was large enough to take care of the body which enabled it to take nourishment after the usual buby fushion. Mrs. Poe when exhibiting her treasure to admiring friends followed the example of all mothers with dimunitive offsprings and often slipped her ring to the little one's elbow, John W. ollowing story on the captain: The captain has a deep eyclone pit as a place of reluge in time of dangerous storms. The pit laws a trap door which opons when touched and closes itself. Some time ago the captain purchased seven ducks and two chickens and placed them in his yard. The next day they were nowhere to be found. A careful search for the missing fewis failed to give any clow to their whereabouts, and, thinking they had been stolen, nothing more was thought about the matter. Just ninoteen days after the fowls disappeared the captain had occasion to opon his cyclone pit. The first thing that met his gaze were the seven ducks and two hous. They had stepped on the trup door and had been dumped into the pit, the door closing behind them,

The wonderful fact of it is that though they had been in the plt nineteen days without food or water they were allve. After the fewls were removed from the pit it was noticed that they walked very nwkwardly. A careful examination to-vended the fact that they were all as blind as bats. -- Birmingham (Ala.) Nows.

An Old Testament Mistake. A Parisian paper calls attention to angular mistake in the revised version of the Old Testament, or rather to the perpetration of an old error. It occurs in 11 Chronicles xxir, 1, where Ahaziah is described as, at the age of 42, having succeeded his father, who died at the age of 10. Seeing that another, and a perfectly possible account of the same circumstance is given in H Kings viii, 26, it is surprising that the obvious error

A New Departure in the Navy Depart WASHINGTON, June 27 .- Secretary Tracy order directing a radical re-organization of the different increase of the Navy Department, which is to go into effect on the lat of July next. This is a step the Secretary decided to take very soon after he was placed at the head of the Navy Department. He discovered incongrut-ties and divided responsibilities in the duties devolving upon different bureau chiefs under the present organization, and he also found it difficult, under the existing system of business, to arrange and classify the new supplies and sources of supply needed for the creation of sew floots and to continue the work of increasing the navy. His new order recasts the duties of the several bureaus.

It simplifies and equalizes the work of some of the bureaus and bureaus and concentrates duties that in many cases are now scattered among several burossy. In general, the new organization groups the duties of construction, equipment and supply logically and systematically among several bureaus, and places the personnel of the navy, the training, drilling, inspection and discipline of offi cors and mon-herotofors scattered among several different bureaus-under the Ruceau of Navigation. Another int portant and now feature of the roomsontation of the departmental work is the mostlibiling the chiefwal the five bureau that have to do with the preparation of material-yards and dooks, ordnance, equipment, roustruction and steam ou-glucering—ex-officio a board for the deign, construction and equipment of new

THE M'DOW TRIAL.

Evidence That His Victim Was Shot in the Back,

Testimony That Ought to Hang the Murderer Without the Benefit of Clergy-The Case Closed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 28.-The McDow trial was resumed yesterday morning. Dr. It. A. Kintoch was the first witness called by the State. He exhibited an embalmed model, and explained the flight of the ball and the direction of the wound. He correbetated the opinion of the surgion who made the autopsy that Dawson was shot while his back was turned to the prisoner. He said it was absolutely impossible to account for the wound in any other way. John Hogan, a detective, terlifled that he had taken McDow from the police station to the juil on the night of the murder. Witness asked McDow where he shot Dawson and McDow saul. "I shot him to kill, and Pd shoot him again and again I know where to shoot to kill. I learned that in my profession." The State then moved to have the jury visit the premises where the murder was committed. Counsel for the defense resisted the nection and argument was hold. The cam refreed to allow the jury to go Burgeon Mitchell was recalled and ox-

Five of the six men recovered consciousness in a few minutes, but the sixth, Merkichm, comamed unconscious half an hour. As soon as his critical condition was observed by the officials, they steamed to the tag Wellington and brought a physician to attend him. The six men were then lifted out of thour shell and placed on board the Carrie Goodwin Widte these transfers were olng made the two other men in the Columbia boat also fainted and had to is assisted out of their boal. When the Columbia's founch arrived at their quarters the entire Columbia erew were lifted out and carried to their room's and put to bod. The men were in pretty bad shape. They had been rowed to a standatill and had completely broken down. Tuttle was quite excited and at times quite delirious. Several others plainly showed the offects of the se-sovore strain under which they had been rowing, and of the high tension of then nerves when they found themselves de-

MORE BODIES RECOVERED. Pwelve Corpses Taken from the Debris of the Loyal Hanna Bridge

Wrock. LATROBE, Pa., June 28.—The work of searching among the debris for bodies of the killed at Loyal Hanna bridge was re sumed yesterday morning. Up to noon the omains of twelve persons had been romains of twerre persons not not interest taken from the wrock. About fifteen minutes past ten o'clock the terribly crushed bodies of Engineer Caldweit and Fireman Findish were taken from under the front end of engine No. 1315, which has in about eight foot of water. It is believed that there are many more bodies covered up in the wreckage, and that the remains of others of the victims have been carried away by the current of water, which is very swif at this place. Several of the dead have not been identified.

The Douth List May Reach Forty-Five LATROBE, Pa., June 27.--The lass of life at the Latrobe freight wrock will probably be larger than at first reported, an the death list may reach forly-five. WATCH CLUBS

With twatches have, in times past, been considered a luxury, in the c days they have become practically a necessity. To provide a good watch is sometimes inconvenient if the whole amount of the value is required at once. To make it possible for every min, woman and youth to supply themselves with a good watch, we propose offering them on what is known as the Club Plan. This plan his been in successful operation in many of the larger cities for several years, and has become very popular as absolute satisfac-

Several days ago the many friends of Passie and Tom Hoskins received neat streets. He visited the Decatur steam nvitations which read as follows: "Compliments of Passie and Tom Hoskins, Friday, June 28th, 1889, from 5 to 8 p. m." Knowing well of the fine time in store for them they have looked forward taken out of the street and replaced to the occasion with much expectancy. At the time specified in the invitation the little folks with broad anales and their eyes beaming full of joy began to assemble at the home of the little host and hostess, 531 Prairie Avenue. They soon gathered together on the lawn and enjoyed themselves playing games for several hours, when a delicious suppor was apread indoors on a number of decorated tables. Mrs. Hoskins was assisted in looking to the young people's enjoyment by Mrs. E. D. Bartholomew, Mrs. Henry Smith and Miss Eva McFarland, of Kansas City. The young people departed at a seasonable hour highly densed with the delightful manner in which they were entertained.

The company included Rail and Bounte Bar belomey, Frank and Madge Hays, Ira and Det Clokey, Charles and Nello Pratt, Will, frene and Florence Armstrong, Honry Stevens, Erskhe Gayton, Willie and Hugh Housum, Will Meride George Ennis, Charles Kinsman, Murray Millikin, Bruce Chenoweth, Balllo Hammer Warren, James and Lou Durice, Franklin Howns, Edgar Quinlan, Reeves Scruggs, Wil Blackstone, Fred Stoner, Phordlo and Zella Ewing, Donna Buckingham, Dot and Abble Durfee, Bessle and Barold Young, Bessle Nell Young, Chalite and Eva Downing, Fley and Chalife Gasaway, Gertic and Leith Tyler, Anna Roberts, Apple Cloyd, Long Nelson, Alice Piper Jonnie Chambers, Anna Fisk, Arthin and Earl Smith, Ehrma Cloyd, Edith Har-ha, Corland Shellabarger, Neta Thalcher, Janio Hellman Alberta Barnes, Laura Klusman, Bert Morgan Nothe Moore, Scott Glore, Marie Powers, Fay But thotomaw, Sammie Hellbrun, Troy, Scott and Blanche Alexander, Marguer He Stauffer, Margie Wallace, Anna Curtes, Gussle Ferguson, Capt. There was a tost last night after ! o'ulock of the $375 street sweeper to be need in sweeping the dust and dirt off the payed streets. The tests took place on East Main and North Water streets. and proved entirely satisfactory. It is a roller sweeper, three feet in diameter and seven feet long, and is fastoned diagonally between the wheels. It can be pulled easily by two horses, the dirt and dust being swept into the gutters, where the sweepings are shoveled into wagons and hanled off. It will be necessary with each sweeping to sprinkle the streets in advance, otherwise the dust that is kicked up by the rapidly moving sweeper will onvelop the buildings to the roofs. The sweeper is the same that is used in Chieago and St. Louis, and is made by Abbott, Downing & Co., of Boston. The city will buy it.

Testing Paying Brick. Prof. Ira O. Baker, in charge of the civil engineering department of the University of Illinois at Champsign, was in Decatur to-day making a careful investi cation of the material used in our paved tile works, and by courtesy of Engineer Burgese was given samples of the tile company brick Inid on South Water street four years ago. The brick were with new ones. The brick bear but little evidence of wear. The Professor is preparing a standard book on street paving material, devoted entirely to brick, and will give the Decatur samples of thorough test in his hydraulic testing machine. He was astounded at the hardness of the tile made brick, and stated that they are burnt to a degree that he thought could not attained. He thinks after the test that he will be enabled to give Decatur brick a strong endorse-ment. He left for Champaign this noon

A small blaze broke out this morning about 9 o'clock in the barn at the rear of the residence occupied by W. S. Richard son corner of West Wood and Monroe stroets. The fire department was called out, but the blaze was extinguished before they arrived. The fire might have resulted fatally had it ignited a gallon can of powder half filled, which was located in one corner of the harn. Had it caught fire the explosion would have l blown the building to atoms, Fortunately the can was discovered in time to prevent the threstened calamity. The fire is supposed to have been of incondiary origin, as a similar blaze was started Sunday morning. The family think it vas started by tramps. No damage.

By virtue of one execution on transcript from J. P. 9 docket to me directed and delivered by the Gark of the Gircuit Court of Macon county illinos, in favor of S. I., Robertson, and against James F. W. Jicone, I have levied upon the following discribed property, tewlf: Lot No, one (1), in block No, three (3), Packard's Addition to the City of Decatur, Macon county and state of Illinois, taken as property of the said James F. W. Boone, which I shall offer at public sale at the west door of the court house in the city of Decatur, in Macon county, in said state, on the 15th day of July, A. D. 1889, at the hour of two wilcock p. m. of said day, for each in hand, to safisty said execution.

NOTICE-On and after JULY 4th we will close our

In the spring of 1880 Mrs. J. B. Marvin, of Atchison, Kan., gave birth to a girl baby, perfectly developed, strong and healthy, that weighed but 12 pounds. The tiny skirt prepared for the prospective arrival completely enveloped the little stanger and served well the double purpose of skirt and gown. This was, perhaps, an attempt to outdo

DIMINUTIVE BABIES.

Mrs. Sangey, of Oakland, Cal., the mother of the justly celebrated 12 ounce infant. Albert, which is the name of the Sanger sample package, was born May 28, 1879 but was not welghed until June 1, wher he ighed exactly 1 pound. The 12 ounce figures given above are only estimates based on calculation made by all the old ladies present when it was first weighed, who unanimously concurred in the opinion that it had gained at least four omees during its three days' stay in the big, wicked world. If it had gained more than four ounces it stands to reason that it must have weighed less than 12 ounces when born. The annilest baby ever born in the United States was a little son born to Mrs. and Mr. D. C. Miller at Candelaria, Nov., Oct. 27, 1882. When it first saw the light of day it weighed, according to the birth certificate of the attending M. D., eight and three-quarter ounces. The father and mother were both healthy. well developed people, weighing 190 and 160 pounds respectively. A silver dollar laid over the face entirely hid it from view; the mouth was not larger than the diameter of a common Fuber lead poneil. The ness was as perfect as that of a grown person, and in that particular was different from the usual little wart worn by bables in general in place of a 1080. The finger nails were perfect, and the grapeshot head was outlrely coveres with hair. I have tried to get on the track of this remarkable baby, but have heard nothing of it since the summer of 1893, when it was becoming quite portly, weighing over three pounds and a half. Jan. 5, 1695, there came another addition to the world of nature's freaks, when Mrs. Charles Tracy, of Kingsbridge, N. Y., gave birth to a son weighing exactly eleven cances. The length of the child was six inches, and the feet were so small that the mother's engagementaling easily slipped over them up to the knee of the little one. Prior to the advent of this little eff three children had blessed the union of the Tracys, all of regulation size. The head of this little wonder was about the size of a horse chestunt, the face about like a quarter dollar piece, the mouth, which was entirely too small to grasp the nipple after the usual fashion, was stretched to its utmost capacity over a goose qull fastened in the neck of a two cunco bottle filled with milk. A man of ordinary grasp could clasp his hand around the body of little Tracy and meet the thumb and index finger. For many days the little wonder was the pride of Kingabridge. Tennessee also chilns honor in the small buby line. The Chattanooga claimant was born in March, 1883, and weighed but one pound and eight ounces. The father, Mr. Marion Poe, was a prominent merchant of that elty at the time, and above the average in height, being over six feat. Mrs. Pao is a healthy wo-man, weighing 125 pounds. The pride of the Poes, and the wonder of Tennessee, had a head aptly compared in size to a billiard ball, but unlike the Tracy midget provided with a mouth that was large enough to take care of the body which enabled it to take nourishment after the usual buby fushion. Mrs. Pee when exhibiting her treasure to admir ing friends followed the example of all mothers with dimentive offsprings and often slipped her ring to the little one's elbow, "John W. Ducks in a Cyclone Pit.

Capt. Ingraham is a well known citizon of a thriving little town on the Huntsville branch of the Birmlegham Mineral. Conductor Smith, of the Vitlago Springs accommodation, tells the ollowing story on the captain: Tho emplain has a deep syclone pit as a place of retuge in time of dangerous storms. The pit lawa trap door which opons when touchoil and closes itself. Some time ago the emptain purchased seven ducks and two chickens and placed them in his yard. The next day they were nowhere to be found. A careful search for the missing fowls failed to give any clow to their whereabouts, and, thinking they had been stolen, nothing more was thought about the matter. Just ninoteen days after the fowls disappeared the captain had occasion to open his cyclone pit. The first thing that met his guze were the seven ducks and two hour. They had stepped on the trup door and had been dumped into the plt, the door closing behind them.

The wonderful fact of it is that though they had been in the plt nineteen days without food or water they were allve. After the fewls were removed from the pit it was noticed that they walked very nwkwardly. A careful examination to-vented the fact that they were all as blind as bats.—Birmlugham (Ala.) News. An Old Testament Blisticke.

A Parisian paper calls attention to a angular mistake in the revised version of the Old Testament, or rather to the perpetration of an old error. It occurs in II Chronicles xxia, 1, where Ahazlah is described as, at the age of 42, baving succeeded his father, who died at the age of 10. Scoing that another, and a perfectly possible account of the same ireumstanco is given in II Kings viii, 26, it is surprising that the obvious error should have escaped correction. According to the Book of Kings, Ahuziah's real age at his accession was only 22. At the time of Ahazinh's birth, therefore, At268 E.MainSt. his father was 18-n fairingo for a Syrlan fallier of a firstborn. This particular error is older than the art of printing. It dates back to some ancient Hebres copy of the Book of Chronicles. It is reproduced in the Doual version of the Old

How fast does a bullet travel? If it is a proper shape for traveling, Col. Flag-Hor and his officers say it ought to go at the rate of 1,275 feet per second upon leaving the rifle. This matter of speed s very important, and if a cartridge is five or ten feet too fast or too slow the quantity of powder must be changed. This matter of speed is tested in a very interesting way.

At the northern end of the amenal grounds is a long wooden shed, in which a distance of 100 feet has been carefully marked off. At either end of this spac ls a stand something like a target, with a large circular opening whore the bull'seye would be. Across each opening is stretched a small electric wire, connected with a delicate instrument in another

The rifle from which the firing is done

s so simed that the bullet which flies rom it cuts both wires. Obviously the difference in time between the cutting of the first end of the second wire will nark the speed of the bullet through 100 feet. The measurement of this brief space or time is done by an instrument French invention called the Boulinge chronograph. When the first wire is entan electric circuit is broken and a rod which is suspended from a magnet falls a short distance, touching in its descent a point which makes a mark on its side. The breaking of the second wire lets drop a second smaller rod in the same way. By means of the difference in the marks on the rods at is possible to estimate the difference in the time of their falling, and from this the speed of the bullet per second. This is a provision for detecting any error, and nearly absoute accuracy is secured.—Philadelphia

The bloodhound has a much more deliate nose than any other known breed of round, and can puzzle out a cold scent inder the most adverse conditions. He s remarkable for adhering to the scent on which he is laid. Some years since a pack of staghounds was kept in Derbyhire, and it was no infrequent occurrence for the hunted deer to take refuge among a hord in some park. In this case the pack was whipped off and a couple of bloodhounds had on, who stuck to the nunted deer until they got him clear of the hord, when the pack was again lake

The bloodhound is easily entered to hunt anything, and with a strong seent will sometimes absolutely at down on his banaches for a few seconds and throw tongue in sheer delight. The note is very deep, mellow and prolonged, and may be heard for miles. The bay, or "singing," of a kennel of bloodbounds just before feeding or excreasing is most nelodious

The bloodhound was originally so slow that in border warfare he was taken up and carried on horseback for a time when the pursuers came to seft ground where the trail was visible. If the horse of that period was faster than the bloodhound, the latter must indeed have beer low.—Century.
